Finding Faith through Creativity

Presented by National Capital Presbytery
Hosted virtually for PC(USA) Youth by The Grace Lab

Calling all Makers, Creators, and Dreamers! The National Capital Presbytery invites all high school youth and college-age young adults in its churches to a weekend retreat of creating, resting, hoping, and playing.

Join us on Friday, March 5th and Saturday, March 6th for four hours of getting creative, socializing with peers, and reconnecting with the Creator God. Creative supplies of all kinds are welcome, but they are not needed. Our time together will challenge us all to create outside the box in unexpected ways. In so doing, we will celebrate the ways God is creating and resurrecting in our own midst — often in unexpected ways every day. Especially in these days. God is still creating, still reviving, still working! And God is doing it through you. So join us, Makers! Let's create.

The Makers Retreat will be hosted virtually by The Grace Lab, with facilitators Emilee Williams and Ruth Tapp. Emilee (she|hers) is a Campus Minister at George Mason University and a spiritual director with The Grace Lab, passionate about finding God in our midst. Ruth Tapp (she|they) is Director of Family Ministries at Beverley Hills UMC and has a passion for the ways art connects us with God.

Come see the ways God is actively creating. We can't wait to dream, pray, and create together!
