How Stories Save Us

“Now more than ever, we need a book and a teacher such as this.” –Anne Lamott, New York Times bestselling author

In an increasingly fast-paced and fractured world, sharing stories can be a radical and deeply human practice for uncovering the ties that bind us to one another. Story invites us to step into the reality of another person’s existence and instead of judgment feel kinship. Storyteller, author, and activist Mark Yaconelli will lead two different workshops

Mark will read from his new book and lead us into an enchanting meditation on the power of storytelling in our individual and collective lives.

Through his work with The Hearth nonprofit, Yaconelli has served communities across the United States and United Kingdom to bridge divisions, heal trauma, shed light on injustice, and recover hope. In this inspiring and interactive presentation Mark Yaconelli will show how stories can heal our families, our world, ourselves.

Mark Yaconelli is a seasoned retreat leader, community-builder, story catcher whose work has appeared in the Washington Post, the Wall Street Journal, BBC Radio, and ABC World News Tonight. www.markyaconelli.com

“Mark Yaconelli ushers us into rooms full of authentic stories, where facades fall and suffering and joy are metabolized. This is an immersive, elegant meditation, an offering of grace.”

—Kirsten Powers, CNN Senior Political Analyst

“An owner’s manual for the soul.”

—Anne Lamott, New York Times bestselling author.
