

CROOKED STEEPLE Literary Festival

FEATURING
BRIAN NOYES

SATURDAY APRIL 27 AT 2PM

READING, RECEPTION & BOOK SIGNING
$20 SUGGESTED DONATION

SCAN ME

WITH SUPPORT FROM

FALLS CHURCH PRESBYTERIAN

225 E. BROAD ST. FALLS CHURCH, VA

ONE OF THE BEST COOKBOOKS OF THE YEAR

Garden & Gun

“Original and highly personal, The Red Truck Bakery Farmhouse Cookbook is a joyful love story to many comfort foods.”—

Jacques Pépin, chef and author

“A story of rural renaissance and a document of creative life in a country farmhouse, this is also a really great cookbook, with a recipe for a bourbon-and-crystallized-ginger cake so good that you will lie and tell everyone Great Aunt So-and-So handed it down to you.”—

John T. Edge, author of *The Potlikker Papers

“I felt as if I won the lottery when the Red Truck Bakery opened near my farm. Now we have The Red Truck Bakery Farmhouse Cookbook to inspire us to make delicious dishes that Brian has created and collected for breakfast, lunch, dinner, and dessert.”—

Mary Chapin Carpenter, singer and songwriter

“Everything always seems to taste better cooked in a farmhouse kitchen. With this delightful new book, Brian Noyes celebrates our region’s culinary riches and captures the true spirit of hospitality. As you cook your way through these pages, the intoxicating aromas wafting from your kitchen will transport you to the country farmhouse of your dreams.”—

Patrick O’Connell, chef proprietor, The Inn at Little Washington

“As a professional eater but bush-league cook, I am thrilled that Brian’s new book takes me by the hand to create Red Truck Bakery farmhouse treasures well above my natural culinary skill set. I’ll soon be bringing peach hand pies, watermelon salad, and banana pudding to tailgates and parties to let friends know I really can cook!”—

Michael Stern, author of *Roadfood