

MISSIONAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP IMMERSION

Wed, January 29, 4:00 PM - Fri, Jan 31, 11:00 AM
Riverside PC / Ridgetop Coffee and Tea, Sterling, VA

There is still time to learn from the expertise of presenters and practitioners from around the country. Join us if you or your church are curious about:

- How churches become community hubs
- Best practices for repurposing church facilities
- Creating opportunities for new income streams and new expressions of church
- Taking part in the National Capital Presbytery's Missional Incubator in the future

Workshop leaders and topics include:

1. Carla Leon, CEO of Just Like Family, one of the largest health care companies in North America, will help you think outside of the nonprofit or start-it-from scratch mindset.
2. Carlin Beekman, Matt Messier, and Andrew Genova from Foundry Commercial's Mission Property Group will explore how a church's mission and vision should dictate their real estate decisions. They will cover current trends in church real estate, offering insights into how changing landscapes impact ministry opportunities.
3. Mike Bartholomew, Chief Operating Officer of FTS International, created and ran the Ideation Lab for the CIA. He will help you understand how to decide on an idea, put that idea together in a proposal, and then implement the proposal.
4. Jeff Hulett teaches personal finance at James Madison University and works with start-ups and entrepreneurs through his company Personal Finance Reimagined. He will help you understand how to craft a business plan for a new venture.
5. Nikki Collins oversees 1001 New Worshiping Communities for the Presbyterian Church (USA). Her workshop will help you understand the organizational pieces needed to create a sustainable mission.
6. Chris Holland is executive director of The Common Place and Executive Pastor of Salt and Light. The Common Place is an award-winning social enterprise in Philadelphia PA. Chris will help you consider strategies for designing sustainable social enterprises.
7. Casey Thompson and John Molina-Moore from National Capital Presbytery will help you see what it takes to be a "sending church," a church that starts something new.

This event is a partnership between National Capital Presbytery and Fresh Expressions US with the Mission Agency of the Presbyterian Church USA hosting a pre-event with Author Mark Eldson who wrote the book, "We Aren't Broke". To Register or for more info go to: <https://freshexpressions.com/missional-entrepreneurship-immersion> so that our churches can grow 