

Interim Pastor Opportunity at First Presbyterian Church of Annandale

- The interim pastor position will be full-time (40 hours per week) OR part-time (18 hours per week), to be agreed upon mutually by the personnel committee and successful applicant, with approval by the session.

First Presbyterian Church of Annandale (FPCA), a warm and dynamic congregation in Fairfax County, Virginia, is seeking an Interim Pastor to lead us with passion and vision during a transitional period. Located in the heart of Annandale, our church of approximately fifty-four (54) members has a rich history of faith, service, and fellowship. We are eager to welcome a leader who loves the Lord Jesus and His church and can inspire us as we seek to fulfill God's calling.

About the Role

As our Interim Pastor, you will:

- Deliver insightful, Bible-based sermons each Sunday that refresh our spirits and strengthen our faith.
- Provide pastoral care through personal visits, counseling, and support for life events such as weddings, funerals, and baptisms.
- Attend Sunday school classes and occasionally lead Bible studies and prayer groups to deepen our understanding of Scripture.
- Lead and work with our Session to maintain existing programs and explore creative new initiatives to engage our community.
- Foster connections with our congregation through various communication methods, including in-person interactions, phone calls, emails, and social media.

Qualifications

We are seeking a candidate who:

- Has a passionate love for Jesus Christ and a commitment to Reformed theology, with a solid understanding of its core doctrines.

- Is a skilled preacher, able to deliver Christ-centered sermons that blend theological depth with practical application.
- Demonstrates a shepherd's heart, with strong interpersonal skills and a genuine care for the spiritual and emotional needs of the congregation.
- Has experience in church leadership, preferably in an interim or transitional role.

About First Presbyterian Church of Annandale

Nestled in the vibrant community of Annandale in Fairfax County, FPCA has been a beacon of faith for over 60 years. Our small congregation has an average of 22 – 30 people attending each week. We have a strong commitment to worship, service, and spiritual growth, and love to welcome visitors and newcomers. We are active in our community, supporting local outreach programs like food drives and partnering with regional ministries. Our members are relatively well-educated, engaged, and eager to grow in faith together under the guidance of a dynamic leader.
